```
class A {
                                                           const obj = {
                 constructor(public name) {
                                                             name: 'Alex',
   value
                 get age() {
                                                             get age() {
  getter
                   return 10;
                                                               return 10;
                                                             },
                 full() {
                                                             full() {
  method
                   return this.name + ', ' + this.age;
                                                               return this.name + ', ' + this.age;
                                                             },
                                                             get id() {return '007';},
                 get id() {return '007';}
accessor
                 set id(value) {}
                                                             set id(value) {},
  setter
                 set about(value) {}
                                                             set about(value) {}
```